

Cyclops

Description

Getting its name from the odd shape of its waves, Cyclops is an exposed reef break located in the Far South of Western Australia and a dangerous surfing area prone to groundswells due to its unique seabed depth change. Though it is known for being an inconsistent spot, the month of April and overall autumn are advised as its best surfing seasons.

Metadata

- Landmarks: Natural Wonders
- City: Cape Le Grand
- Country: Australia
- GPS Coordinates: 34.0125°S, 122.0426°E
- Cadastral Number: AU.L.NW.CG.1